If you were born again tomorrow
      B     G#m    D#m    G#m
      B     G#m    D#m    C#

                         D#m      B
You've seen it, that's not what you wanted

                         C#m       C#m/C
Ain't gonna say the sky is falling

                         D#m
You gotta read between the lines

Stop waiting for a sign

          C#m          C#m/C
Who's gonna live your life?

      D#m                   B
Yeah, you don't have to look back to see where we are

C#m                      C#m/C
The future's looking brighter than a handful of stars

          D#m        B  C#m
You gotta hold on, hold on, be strong

        If you were born again tomorrow
                     D#m           C#
   Would you live your life like yesterday?
                         B      G#m
        If you were born again tomorrow
                     D#m          C#
   I wouldn't live my life any other way
        B      G#m   D#m    C#
                          D#m      B
    Don't have to end up where you started
                     C#m       C#m/C
      Heaven loves the broken hearted
                         D#m
        You learn from your mistakes
    Bones grow stronger when they break
               C#m          C#m/C
      Who said the scars don't fade?
           D#m                  B
   Yeah, you don't have to look back to see where we are
          C#m                  C#m/C
   The future's looking brighter than a handful of stars

If you were born again tomorrow

          D#m   C#

I wouldn't live my life any other way

        B   G#m

Would you relive every moment?

        D#m   C#

Would you tear out any page?

          B   G#m

If you were born again tomorrow

        D#m   C#

I wouldn't live my life any other way
