Album: From the Outside

Tuning: EADGBE

Capo: 1st fret

This is a nice little number and reasonably easy to play; there are various fingering possibilities you could use as an alternative to some of these, for example the D minor and A minor riffs in the second section can be played either as barres or in open position at some points. I'm not a big fan of full barres due to my skinny fingers so I generally go for the open option when I can! Experiment. This is basically the 1st Verso tabbed; the intro and the other Versos are the same material with a few minor variations (which you'll probably end up doing yourself anyway). Have fun :o)
